

W01 Practical Report

What sparked your interest in Computer Science?

My interest in Computer Science originated from making basic games in Scratch during Computing class in Year 7. My interest in Computer Science as a degree pathway was brought to the fore when I took it as a GCSE subject and found that I thoroughly enjoyed its heavy emphasis on problem solving as well as learning about its potential scope.

If you were to develop an application of your choice, what would it do?

I would probably like to work on an app that used Machine Learning to generate a translation algorithm that would be able to accurately convey the meaning of a phrase or idiom, though at this stage I would have no idea how to go about it.
